LITTLE ANGELS HIGH SCHOOL GWALIOR

LAUNCHES INDIA ETHICS CAMPAIGN

Training in morals and good conduct is far more important than book learning. A child that is cleanly, agreeable, of good character, well-behaved -- even though he be ignorant -- is preferable to a child that is rude, unwashed, ill-natured, and yet becoming deeply versed in all the sciences and arts. The reason for this is that the child who conducts himself well, even though he be ignorant, is of benefit to others, while an ill-natured, ill-behaved child is harmful to others, even though he be learned. If, however, the child be trained to be both learned and good, the result is light upon light. -Baha'i Writings

Any student that comes to Little Angels School is treated like a precious gem, whose facets are polished, so that all the inherent good qualities in that individual are revealed and thus society gains one more all round agent of social change. We motivate students to excel in everything, be it academics, sports or literary skills, and above all the moral values and actions are emphasized.

MRS. FARIDA VAHEDI & DR. MRS. ALKA SHARMA INAUGURATING THE CAMPAIGN

A Campaign For Ethical Education Among Children

Following the Kai-Zen philosophy of continuous improvement, we are now the Executive Partners with Global Network of Religions for Children (GNRC)'s South Asia Ethics Campaign. The ethics campaign is a worldwide movement with an aim to empower children and youth to develop a strong sense of ethics.

The objective in forming the GNRC was to contribute to the well being of children from religious perspectives, through collaboration and cooperation among students from different religious background engaged in activities for children. The GNRC is working to achieve this by cooperating, not only with religious people, but also with International Agencies, Governments, NGOs, and children from all walks of life, in order to foster a global movement to create a better environment for children in the 21st century.

Little Angels High School Gwalior envisions a world in which all children are empowered to develop their spirituality by embracing ethical values, learning to live in solidarity with people of different religion. LAHS further believes that ethics education will enhance children's innate ability to make positive contributions to the well being of their peers, families, and communities, and this in turn will help the entire human family to thrive in an environment of greater justice, peace, compassion, hope and dignity. It provides a vehicle for youth to encounter and examine values with their peers from different religious, cultural, and social backgrounds, and to apply what they learn to the real challenges of their daily lives.

Little Angels High School is the pioneer in Madhya Pradesh and the 9th School in India to launch this campaign.

On this occasion, Mrs. Farida Vahidi, Representative for South Asia Ethics Promoting Campaign for children' inaugurated the India Ethics Campaign at Little Angels High School Gwalior on the 9th of April `08.

Our students presented Power Point Presentations and skits on the following topics:

(A) Junior Youth Empowerment at LAHS (B) Youth Can Move The World (C) Equal Wings (D) Charter of Earth Rights

The Directors of the School Mr. & Mrs. Olyai and the Principal reinstated that

"It was a Red Letter Day in the annals of Little Angels School, front lining its initiatives in empowering the generation with ethics and morals of life." The parents and guests who attended this programme were awed by the confidence, clarity and presentation skills of the students.
